SUBMISSION FROM ADAM FULLER

I am a lifelong citizen of Aberdeenshire. I have seen the great benefits of having a thriving energy industry and the knock on effects that brings to the rest of the country.

Aberdeen is I a perfect position to capitalize on the transition to a low carbon energy future and as a citizen of Aberdeen and this planet I urge you to press on with the Scottish government programme to move Scotland into a zero carbon future as soon as possible.

My first point is please do not be swayed from your ambitious target. This is for everyone’s future benefit. You have been given a position of great responsibility. Part of that responsibility to make difficult and not always popular decisions but decisions that never the less are ultimately correct.

Moving Scotland to 100% renewables by 2020 is ambitious yes, but achievable and will act as a global example of hope and what is possible.

On a more local note, please do not be swayed from your goal by certain American business men who have absolutely nothing other than their own interests at heart.

I hope his campaign against offshore wind power only succeeds in strengthening your resolve.

Adam Fuller
17 February 2012