Dear Mr Grevemberg

In 2011, we took evidence from the Mobility and Access Committee Scotland (MACS) about transport accessibility. They raised specific concerns at that time regarding Glasgow 2014 but subsequently informed us that they had been invited to work with you directly in the run up to the games.

On 17 March, we noted further concerns\(^1\) from MACS about its involvement in the Accessible Transport Board and agreed to take a look for ourselves, with input from MACS, at accessibility and Glasgow 2014. We wish particularly to see first-hand what disabled people’s experience will be in getting to and using the venues during the games, as well as to learn what your plans are for a lasting and inclusive legacy. We plan to undertake our visits in late May or early June.

I trust that our plans will meet with your support and co-operation and I would be grateful if you could liaise with the Committee Clerk at the contact details above. The Committee would also appreciate your comments on the points made in MACS’ recent letter, by 22 April to inform our visits.

Yours sincerely
