How would you characterise your views on the Bill in general?
In support

How would you characterise your views on the introduction of same sex marriage, so that same sex couples can marry each other?
In support

How would you characterise your views on putting belief celebrants on the same footing as religious celebrants?
In support

How would you characterise your views on the arrangements for authorising celebrants to solemnise opposite sex and same sex marriage (including the opt-in procedures)?
In support

How would you characterise your views on civil partnerships changing to marriages?
In support

more work needed on this section; civil partnerships registered outwith Scotland should have the same rights as those registered in Scotland

How would you characterise your views on allowing civil marriage ceremonies to take place anywhere, other than religious premises, agreed between the couple and registrar?
In support

How would you characterise your views on allowing the religious and belief registration of civil partnerships?

How would you characterise your views on allowing transgender persons to stay married when obtaining a full Gender Recognition Certificate, which provides legal recognition in the acquired gender?
In support

Would you like to comment on the wider issue of protections for those in society who may have concerns about same sex marriage?
I think the bill has it about right; schools must be allowed to answer any questions re same-sex marriages in the same way they answer other questions - factually and without personal bias.

Would you like to comment on the wider issue of freedom of speech?

Is there a problem here? Of course people will be able to disagree with same-sex marriage and say so.

Would you like to comment on any other wider issues in relation to the Bill that are not mentioned above?

big step towards equality but more is needed in the spirit of fairness. For instance - why not have civil partnerships for same sex couples?

Are you responding as...

a private individual

Mrs Eileen Dickie
16 August 2013