How would you characterise your views on the Bill in general?
In opposition

How would you characterise your views on the introduction of same sex marriage, so that same sex couples can marry each other?
In opposition

How would you characterise your views on putting belief celebrants on the same footing as religious celebrants?
Neither
Do not really understand the difference between religion and belief. To me they are the same.

How would you characterise your views on the arrangements for authorising celebrants to solemnise opposite sex and same sex marriage (including the opt-in procedures)?
In opposition

How would you characterise your views on civil partnerships changing to marriages?
In opposition
You cannot change reality even if you change the law. Marriage was not created by mankind but by God and therefore cannot be changed.

How would you characterise your views on allowing civil marriage ceremonies to take place anywhere, other than religious premises, agreed between the couple and registrar?
Neither
They should not take place, but if they do, where is not significant.

How would you characterise your views on allowing the religious and belief registration of civil partnerships?

How would you characterise your views on allowing transgender persons to stay married when obtaining a full Gender Recognition Certificate, which provides legal recognition in the acquired gender?
Would you like to comment on the wider issue of protections for those in society who may have concerns about same sex marriage?

Would you like to comment on the wider issue of freedom of speech?

Would you like to comment on any other wider issues in relation to the Bill that are not mentioned above?

Are you responding as...

Jonathan Mason
9 August 2013