MARRIAGE AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP (SCOTLAND) BILL
SUBMISSION FROM CATH STAINSBY

My objections to same sex marriage are many. People should be free to enter into Civil partnerships if they wish, but marriage should remain between one man and woman.
People should have a right not to participate in any way, if that is their belief.

Readers, chaplains, registrars should not be forced into taking any part in such so-called "managis".

People who express disagreement about such unions are already facing problems. Please consider all aspects and amendments are necessary to protect all bathers and each individual's right to free speech and debate.

Parents have definitely a parental right to remove children from lessons where same-sex marriage is being taught, and should be informed when such lessons are going to occur.

All legal rights
are available to same-sex couples just now, so why the need for change?

Please, please consider all peoples and every aspect of this subject.

Cath Stainsby
20 August 2013