SUBMISSION FROM ZANDER CAVEN

1. I write to make a simple but major point regarding The 'High Hedges Bill' (2/10/12).

2. It appears to show no logic that such a bill and eventual legislation would be limited to evergreen or semi-evergreen trees or shrubs, when a variety of vegetation types can disrupt reasonable enjoyment in residential properties.

3. I note the Scottish Ministers have powers to modify the definition of 'High Hedges', and I would expect them, with fairness and rationality, to do so.
