Petitioner Email of 1 December 2015

Please accept this as my submission.

It disappoints me that the Scottish Government has not taken into consideration my own words. They have went off on a tangent that has little or no relevance to the issues I have raised. I can then only urge the committee to ask on my behalf to address these concerns so that they are met.

Upon further examination of the response from the Scottish Government, I find it odd that the government uses gender in its argument, as in the studies I have done abuse can and has been used by both genders. But as I stated earlier this is getting away from the points I have risen and quite honestly it is a distraction to my previous submission. It must be asked if they are paying attention or following their own agenda with little or no thought to what I am trying to accomplish here.

I would also like to add that recently there have been new breakthroughs in diagnosing mental illness through eye tests. This can be a key issue for my petition as a means to determining who is fit for purpose when working around children.

I must underline the sad more recent case of government failings by Nicola Sturgeon and ask "are they really doing enough?" because I feel they are not due to the handing over of information to a registered sex offender.

Scott Pattinson