Dear Sirs

The proposals would appear to be overtly favourable to Pursuers as opposed to Defenders. It does not seem right that only a Defender has to pay expenses in litigation if he loses. In cases where an unsuccessful Pursuer is legally aided and the successful Defender is a local authority or government body, this would result in the public purse paying for both the Pursuer through legal aid and the Defender. If a Pursuer is entitled to QOCs, they should not be entitled to the benefit of legal aid as well.