Context

The Scottish Parliamentary Corporate Body (SPCB) will sit as a selection panel to undertake an open recruitment exercise to appoint two new Scottish Human Rights Commission Members.

Statutory framework

The Scottish Human Rights Commission (“the Commission”) is established under the Scottish Commission for Human Rights Act 2006. The Commission is a body corporate, and its general duty is to promote human rights and, in particular, to encourage best practice in relation to human rights¹. For the purposes of its general duty the Commission may-

- (a) publish information or ideas
- (b) provide advice or guidance
- (c) conduct research
- (d) provide education or training

¹ Human rights means the convention rights within the meaning of section 1 of the Human Rights Act 1998, and other human rights contained in international convention, treaty etc ratified by the UK

- (e) review and recommend changes to any areas of the law of Scotland (subject to first consulting with the Scottish Law Commission) or any policies or practices of any Scottish public authorities; conduct an inquiry into the policies or practices of-
 - (a) a particular Scottish public authority
 - (b) Scottish public authorities generally; or
 - (c) Scottish public authorities of a particular description; and
 - (d) With the leave of the court or at the invitation of the court, intervene in court proceedings for the purpose of making a submission on an issue arising in the proceedings.

The Commission must seek to ensure, as far as practicable, that any activity it undertakes does not duplicate unnecessarily any activity undertaken by any other person under any other enactment.

The Commission is the National Human Rights Institution (NHRI) for Scotland. NHRIs are independent organisations established by law, to promote and protect human rights. The Commission is one of over 100 NHRIs around the world.

The Commission is required to submit annually to the Parliament, a general report on its activities. The Commission must also, in respect of each 4-year period, lay before the Parliament, a Strategic Plan setting out how it proposes to fulfil its general duty during that time.

Further information on the work of the Commission can be found at-

<http://www.scottishhumanrights.com/>

In the performance of its functions, the Commission is not subject to the direction or control of any member of the Parliament, any member of the Scottish Government, or the Scottish Parliamentary Corporate Body.

The Act provides that the Commission will consist of a member appointed to chair and not more than 4 other members. The member appointed to chair the Commission is an individual appointed by His Majesty on the nomination of the Scottish Parliament and the other members of the Commission are appointed by the Scottish Parliamentary Corporate Body (SPCB).

The members of the Commission are:

Professor Angela O'Hagan, part-time Chair
Dr Claire Methven O'Brien, part-time Member, and Shelley Gray, part-time Member.

The Commission is supported by a staff team of 13.3 FTE. The staff team is led by Jan Savage, the Executive Director.

The Commission is based in Bridgeside House, 99 McDonald Road, Edinburgh.

Finance

The SPCB sets the members' terms and conditions of appointment; approves the Commission's annual budget; pays the remuneration and allowances of each member of the Commission; pays any expenses properly incurred by the Commission - as far as these are not met out of income generated by the Commission - and indemnifies the Commission in respect of any liabilities incurred by it in the exercise of its functions.

The Commission's budget for 2025/26 is £1,557k.

Governance

The Commission is a body corporate, and its members are –

- a member appointed to chair the Commission, and
- not more than 4 other members.

The Commission regulates its own proceedings and may do anything which appears necessary or expedient for the purpose of, or in connection with, or which appears conducive to, the exercise of its functions. In particular, the Commission may with the consent of the SPCB, enter into contracts and employ staff.

The Commission meets 9 times each year and if the member appointed to chair the Commission is not present at a meeting of the Commission, any other member of the Commission may chair the meeting.

There is a Scheme of Delegation in place and the day to day running of the Commission has been delegated to the Executive Director.

The SPCB has designated the Executive Director as the Accountable Officer who is directly answerable to the Parliament in the exercise of the following functions-

- a) signing the accounts of the expenditure and receipts of the Commission
 - b) ensuring the propriety and regularity of the finances of the Commission, and
 - c) ensuring that the resources of the Commission are used economically, efficiently and effectively.

Key responsibilities and duties

As a member you will work collaboratively with the chair and the other members of the Commission to –

- ensure that the Commission meets the standards set by the UN Paris Principles and acts effectively and independently

- monitor the Commission's performance to ensure it fulfils its statutory duties and meets its objectives and performance standards as set out in its Strategic and Operational Plans
 - be committed and have demonstrable understanding and experience of good corporate governance
 - represent the Commission and engage and influence a diverse range of stakeholders in different formal and informal settings such as networking events, undertaking press engagements, attending meetings and giving evidence to Scottish Parliament committees
 - as and when required, take ownership of discrete work streams, and
 - review written submissions and other materials drafted by staff members.

Conflicts of Interest

The Commission has a general duty to promote human rights and, in particular, to encourage best practice in relation to human rights (section 2(1) of the Scottish Commission for Human Rights Act 2006). Members of the Commission, including part-time members, are expected to refrain from doing any other work (whether paid or unpaid) that would give rise to an actual or perceived conflict of interest in the exercise of their functions as a member of the Commission.

Application and selection process

All applicants must complete an application form.

An on-screen version of the application form can be found on our website at

<https://www.parliament.scot/about/how-parliament-works/parliament-organisations-groups-and-people/officeholders/member-scottish-human-rights-commission>

The application form is split into two sections to ensure anonymity during short-listing. Part A contains personal information, such as your name and address - this is not seen by the selection panel. Part B is the only part of your application the selection panel will receive.

Each application is assessed in the same way, against the same agreed criteria for the appointment in question. “Criteria” means the key skills and knowledge we think you need to be able to do the job. The evidence and examples that you provide in Part B of your application form and your statement, are the only information we will use in deciding whether or not to shortlist you for interview.

Please do not send us your Curriculum Vitae or supporting documents as they will not be considered. This is to ensure that all application forms are assessed equally.

Before filling in part B of the application form you should read the information provided above under the headings ‘key responsibilities and duties’ and the ‘person specification’. This is to make sure that you know what the appointment involves and the criteria that will be used in assessing the applications.

Completing Part B of the Application Form

Part B of the application form is your chance to demonstrate that you have the skills, experience and knowledge required. Please address each criterion by providing specific examples to support your statements. You must provide evidence of what you did, the reasons for your action, what happened, what you took into account and the outcome.

The selection panel will not make any assumptions about your skills and abilities, for instance through a job title.

You should use no more than 250 words per criterion.

Political Activity Form

The information provided in the political activity form will remain confidential until the panel has agreed who it wishes to nominate. At this time, the information will be released to panel members to make them aware of any political activity.

The information provided by applicants regarding their political activity is not a determining factor in the selection process.

Additional Information

Please indicate if you have ever been convicted of any offence (other than minor motoring offences) which are not spent in accordance with the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 or if any charges are outstanding; been adjudged bankrupt or made a composition or arrangement with your creditors over the past 10 years; been dismissed from any office or employment over the past 10 years; ever been disqualified from acting as a company director or in the conduct of a Company; ever been a director, partner or manager of a company which has gone into liquidation, receivership or administration; any other facts to declare which you feel might be raised in public in future in relation to your suitability to hold appointment for which you are being considered, for example, because they could be presented as a conflict of interest.
