followed by Topical Questions

1. Bruce Crawford: To ask the Scottish Government what its response is to the ruling by the European Court of Justice that the UK can unilaterally revoke Article 50. (S5T-01392)

followed by Scottish Government Debate: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations

S5M-15096 Fergus Ewing: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations—That the Parliament acknowledges the conclusion of coastal state negotiations and the bilateral negotiation with Norway on shared stocks in the North Sea and the forthcoming annual fisheries negotiations in Brussels; notes that 2019 will see the full implementation of the landing obligation for whitefish stocks and that the outcome of the Brussels negotiations will be pivotal in helping Scotland's fishing fleet to reduce the potential impacts of choke species; is concerned that failure to explore and adopt all available solutions in this regard could potentially tie the fleet up; welcomes the Scottish Government's commitment to respect the scientific advice in relation to next year's quotas, and supports its efforts to achieve the best possible outcome for Scotland's fishermen, coastal communities and wider seafood sectors at the Brussels negotiations.

The Presiding Officer has selected the following amendments

S5M-15096.4 Peter Chapman: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations—As an amendment to motion S5M-15096 in the name of Fergus Ewing (Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations), insert at end ", and recognises the opportunities that leaving the EU and CFP presents for the Scottish fishing industry."

S5M-15096.4.1 Stewart Stevenson: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations—As an amendment to amendment S5M-15096.4 in the name of Peter Chapman (Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations), insert at end ", provided the UK Government does not implement paragraph 75 of the Political Declaration, which would tie any agreement on fishing to an overall economic partnership."

S5M-15096.1 Rhoda Grant: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations—As an amendment to motion S5M-15096 in the name of Fergus Ewing (Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations), insert at end "; notes that there will be increases in quotas; calls on the Scottish Government to support the industry to grow to meet the increased capacity both within the catching sector and processing, and further calls for protected quota shares for new entrants with smaller community-based vessels."

S5M-15096.3 Mark Ruskell: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations—As an amendment to motion S5M-15096 in the name of Fergus Ewing (Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations), insert at end "; is concerned by recent reports of alleged illegal fishing activities, and calls for the use of robust vessel tracking and monitoring technology on all Scottish fishing vessels."

S5M-15096.2 Tavish Scott: Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations—As an amendment to motion S5M-15096 in the name of Fergus Ewing (Sea Fisheries and End of Year Negotiations), after "next year's quotas," insert "but recognises the importance of real time science data and accurate, current stock assessments as part of this approach,".

followed by Members' Business: Angela Constance: 60th Anniversary of the Ultrasound Scanner, Invented in Scotland

S5M-14921 Angela Constance: 60th Anniversary of the Ultrasound Scanner, Invented in Scotland—That the Parliament recognises that 2018 marks the 60th anniversary of the pioneering innovation, the obstetric ultrasound scanner, following the publication in 1958 of the seminal paper by Donald, McVicar and Brown, which brought about its development; commends Professor Dugald Cameron who, when he was a final year student that year at The Glasgow School of Art, designed the prototype and worked with a young engineer, Tom Brown, to develop the production version, which was the first of its kind in the world; understands that, since its invention in Scotland, this globally-significant breakthrough has been used to perform over 8.7 million scans annually in the UK, with women in particular benefiting from this safe and non-invasive imaging technique; believes that the scanner has grown in stature, not only as a vital medical tool for the care of pregnant women, but in offering essential diagnosis for a plethora of conditions in men, women and children; acknowledges that it has also expanded into certain therapeutic areas; lauds the late Professor Ian Donald of the University of Glasgow who, after serving as an RAF medical officer in the Second World War, used the concept of adapting radar and sonar technology for medical use to invent this revolutionary technique; recognises the essential contribution of Tom Brown, whose creative technical expertise and collaboration with Donald and others made it possible for this application of ultrasound to be developed, and notes the calls for the Scottish Government to support efforts to encourage the country's museums and others in Almond Valley and across the country in recognising the importance of the obstetric ultrasound scanner and its place in the nation's industrial design, invention and innovation history and heritage.
