Membership changes

2. There have been no membership changes this year.

The work of the Committee on Petitions

3. Over the course of the Parliamentary year, the Committee considered a total of 160 petitions on a wide range of issues. Of these, 98 were continued petitions (i.e. petitions first considered before the period covered by this annual report) and 62 were new petitions (first considered during the reporting year). Most petitions are considered on a number of occasions. Of those petitions considered by the Committee, 69 were closed. A full list of petitions considered is included in Annexe A.

4. Petitions may be lodged by individuals or organisations. This reporting year, 66 petitions have been published. Of those, 42 were submitted by individual petitioners and 24 were submitted by groups or organisations.
5. Since the beginning of the session, the Committee has sought a SPICe briefing and an initial view from the Scottish Government on every new petition before the petition is included on a Committee agenda. This has allowed the Committee to make informed decisions on new petitions at their first consideration. This approach has worked well, and the Committee is grateful to the Scottish Government for continuing to engage positively with these requests for information.
6. The majority of the information gathered by the Committee is through written submissions. This reporting year, submissions were received from—
 - petitioners
 - the Scottish Government
 - relevant organisations with an interest in the petition

- members of the public.
7. The Committee published 489 written submissions during the reporting year. This figure includes the initial submissions received on every new petition from the Scottish Government.
 8. The Committee has also heard oral evidence on petitions. During the reporting year, evidence sessions were conducted both in hybrid and in person. This enabled the Committee to hear from a wide range of people and organisations. The Committee heard from 62 people over 9 meetings.

who gave evidence

9. This reporting year the Committee heard oral evidence on the following petitions:
 - PE1610: Upgrade the A75
 - PE1657: A77 upgrade
 - PE1916: Request a public inquiry into the management of the rest and be thankful project
 - PE1933: Allow the Fornethy Survivors to access Scotland's redress scheme
 - PE1967: Protect Loch Lomond's Atlantic oakwood shoreline by implementing the High Road option for the A82 upgrade between Tarbet and Inverarnan
 - PE2006: Review and simplify the legislation in relation to dismissal of property factors
 - PE2018: Recognise the value of swimming pools and provide financial relief to help keep pools open
 - PE2048: Review the FAST stroke awareness campaign

- PE2089: Stop More National Parks in Scotland
- PE2132: Publish a timeline for the dualling of the A96 between Inverness and Nairn by Easter 2025

The Public Petitions System

10. Part of the Committee's remit is to “keep under review the operation of the petitions system”. This year, the Committee agreed a process of withdrawing a signature from a petition at the request of the signatory. It was agreed that signatories should be allowed to remove their signatures from open petitions. This will cover circumstances where a petition has been signed in error, or where someone no longer wishes to support a petition for a different reason (for example their opinion on the petition has changed and/or new information is available). The Committee also agreed that for closed petitions, signatories should not be allowed to remove their signatures, as the Committee's work on the petition had finished.

Inquiries/case studies

Inquiry into the A9 Dualling Programme

11. During the reporting year 2024-25, the Citizen Participation and Public Petitions Committee continued its inquiry into the A9 Dualling Programme.
12. This inquiry was prompted by the Committee's consideration of petition PE1992, which calls on the Scottish Government to fulfil its 2011 promise to dual the A9 between Perth and Inverness, improve road safety on this route, and consider the creation of a national memorial to those who have tragically lost their lives on this road.
13. Having previously gathered evidence from a range of sources including, the Petitioner, current and former Scottish Government Ministers, Transport Scotland officials and the civil engineering industry, the Committee concluded its evidence gathering by hearing evidence from the former First Ministers, Alex Salmond and Nicola Sturgeon MSP, on 8 and 29 May 2024 respectively.
14. The Committee published a report on 1 November 2024, which explored the following areas –
 - funding for the A9 dualling project
 - governance and decision-making structures, including how progress on the project was and is being monitored
 - confidence in the process going forward
 - the creation of a national memorial, and how best to commemorate all those who have lost their lives on this route.
15. Alongside publication of the Committee's report, the Committee also published a number of documents from Transport Scotland, which included information on the advice provided to Scottish Ministers on the A9 dualling project between 2012-2023.
16. The Scottish Government responded to the Committee's report, and the recommendations it included, on 9 January 2025. The Committee report and Scottish Government response were debated on 16 January 2025
17. Following the debate, the Committee have continued to progress the issues raised during its inquiry, specifically the role parliamentary scrutiny can play in driving momentum to complete the dualling programme through correspondence with the Parliamentary Bureau and Net Zero, Energy and Transport Committee.

PE2006: Review and simplify the legislation in relation to dismissal of property factors

18. PE2006, like many petitions the Committee considers, raises the national policy concerns behind an issue MSPs are familiar with in respect of individual cases brought to them by their constituents, in this case difficulties with property factors.
19. At its meeting on 13 November 2024, the Committee considered written evidence it had received from stakeholders and members of the public, and agreed to invite the Minister for Victims and Community Safety to give evidence on the ask of the petition and to explore where progress could be made to address the petitioner's concerns.
20. The Committee subsequently heard evidence from the Minister on 19 February 2025. During that meeting, the Committee heard that new guidance would shortly be published, which will be aimed at helping homeowners to navigate the various options for voting procedures to deal with property factors. At that time the Minister also expressed a willingness to consider new suggestions on the how the process for dismissing a property factor could be simplified.
21. The Committee will have the opportunity to consider a written update from the Minister before the end of the current parliamentary session.

Thematic evidence sessions

22. The Committee uses a number of ways to explore the various issues being raised in petitions, one of which is inviting government ministers to give evidence.
23. Many petitions, while having differing specific asks, raise similar themes. In response to recurring or similar issues being raised through petitions, the Committee has begun to explore the use of thematic evidence sessions. This is intended to help progress the aims of petitions by allowing the Committee to raise overarching issues directly with Scottish Ministers, with the Committee continuing to seek clarification or updates on specific points for individual petitions. We hope this approach will support the Committee to develop the scrutiny of cross-cutting and repeated themes.

24. On 2 April 2025, the Committee heard evidence from the Cabinet Secretary for Transport and Transport Scotland officials on 5 road infrastructure related petitions .
25. Many of the petitions were long-running and this evidence session allowed the Committee to press the Cabinet Secretary for answers on key issues related these major roads projects.
26. The Committee will continue this approach to taking evidence on cross-cutting themes raised in petitions with evidence sessions on health and on youth justice later in 2025.

Equal opportunities

27. The Committee is keen to ensure that the petition process is made accessible to the widest range of people. To achieve this, the Committee seeks to remove any barriers that may prevent people from creating a petition and facilitates additional support for petitioners throughout the process where required.
