

Local Government, Housing and Planning Committee

9th Meeting, 2021 (Session 6)

Tuesday 15 March 2022

SSI cover note for: Non-Domestic Rating (Unoccupied Property) (Scotland) Amendment Regulations 2022

SSI 2022/51

Title of Instrument: Non-Domestic Rating \(Unoccupied Property\) \(Scotland\) Amendment Regulations 2022

Type of Instrument: Negative

Laid Date: 10 February 2022

Meeting Date: 16 March 2022

Minister to attend meeting: No

Motion for annulment lodged: No

Drawn to the Parliament's attention by the Delegated Powers and Law Reform Committee? No

Reporting deadline: 28 March 2022

Recommendation

1. The Committee is invited to consider any issues which it wishes to raise on this instrument.

Background

2. The following Regulations are made in exercise of powers conferred on the Scottish Ministers by sections 24(2) and (3) and 24A(4) of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1966 and all other powers enabling them to do so. The Regulations are subject to the negative procedure and come into force on 1 April 2022.

Purpose

3. These Regulations amend the Non-Domestic Rating (Unoccupied Property) (Scotland) Regulations 2018 and require local authorities to consider whether certain criteria are present before 100% empty property rates relief is awarded in circumstances where the ratepayer is a company or limited liability partnership that is being wound-up or has entered liquidation, whether compulsorily (ordered by the court) or voluntarily under the Insolvency Act 1986.

4. The amendments only apply to those properties which are let under a lease agreement, and which have become unoccupied on or after 1 April 2022 and within the period of 6 months beginning with the date on which the property first became occupied under the lease agreement. In addition, at least one of three further indicators connected to reduction or mitigation of rates liability must also be established:

- the rent charged for the lands and heritages is significantly below the level of the rent which could reasonably have been obtained at the time the lease was entered into, in all the circumstances;
- payment of the rent is optional in terms of the relevant lease;
- the purpose of the arrangement is identified in the lease as being for the purpose of mitigating rates liability.

5. Where the amendments apply, the conditions relating to 100% relief in the event of winding-up or liquidation are to be treated as not applying. Accordingly, rates will be payable at the other level for empty properties, namely 50% for three months after the property becomes unoccupied, then 10% relief if non-industrial, or 100% relief for 6 months then 10% relief if industrial.

6. An electronic copy of the instrument is available at:
<https://www.legislation.gov.uk/ssi/2022/51/contents/made>

7. A copy of the Scottish Government's Explanatory and Policy Notes are included in Annexe A.

Delegated Powers and Law Reform Committee consideration

8. At its meeting on 1 March 2022, the Committee considered the following instrument and determined that it did not need to draw the attention of the Parliament to the instrument on any grounds within its remit.

9. A copy of the Explanatory Notes and the Policy Notes are included with the papers.

Procedure for Negative Instruments

10. Negative instruments are instruments that are “subject to annulment” by resolution of the Parliament for a period of 40 days after they are laid. All negative instruments are considered by the Delegated Powers and Law Reform Committee (on various technical grounds) and by the relevant lead committee (on policy grounds). Under Rule 10.4, any member (whether or not a member of the lead committee) may, within the 40-day period, lodge a motion for consideration by the lead committee recommending annulment of the instrument. If the motion is agreed to, the Parliamentary Bureau must then lodge a motion to annul the instrument for consideration by the Parliament.

11. If that is also agreed to, Scottish Ministers must revoke the instrument. Each negative instrument appears on a committee agenda at the first opportunity after the Delegated Powers and Law Reform Committee has reported on it. This means that, if questions are asked or concerns raised, consideration of the instrument can usually be continued to a later meeting to allow correspondence to be entered into or a Minister or officials invited to give evidence. In other cases, the Committee may be content simply to note the instrument and agree to make no recommendation on it.

Scottish Government Explanatory Note

These Regulations make amendments to the Non-Domestic Rating (Unoccupied Property) (Scotland) Regulations 2018 (“the 2018 Regulations”).

Sections 24 and 24A of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1966 provide as to the rating of unoccupied property and of property partially unoccupied for a short time. Where a property is completely unoccupied, no rates are payable except in the case of a property falling within a class prescribed by regulations. Where a property is partially unoccupied for a short time and the relevant rating authority requests the assessor to apportion the rateable value between the occupied and unoccupied parts, rates are only payable in respect of the value apportioned to the occupied part except in the case of a property falling within a class prescribed by regulations.

Regulations 2 and 3 of the 2018 Regulations prescribe classes of lands and heritages for these purposes. Exceptions are made for properties in relation to which conditions specified in the 2018 Regulations are met.

Regulation 2(2) amends regulation 2 of the 2018 Regulations in relation to the rating of unoccupied properties. It provides for a set of circumstances in which a condition involving liquidation or the winding up of a company or limited liability partnership is to be regarded as not applying. The amendments only apply to properties which are let under a lease agreement which become unoccupied on or after 1 April 2022 and within the period of 6 months beginning with the date on which the property first became occupied under the lease agreement. The amendments also apply only where, but for the amendments, the liquidation or winding up conditions would otherwise apply. In addition, at least one of three further indicators connected to reduction or mitigation of rates liability must also be established.

Regulation 2(3) amends regulation 3 of the 2018 Regulations, with similar effect in relation to the rating of property partly unoccupied for a short time.

In situations in which the amendments apply, the effect will be that the rules on rates liability applicable to lands and heritages falling within a class prescribed by regulations made under the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1966 will apply.

The amendments made by these Regulations do not affect the ability of a rating authority to put in place a scheme for empty property relief relying on the power in section 3A of the Local Government (Financial Provisions etc.) (Scotland) Act 1962.

As per purpose above and including:

Scottish Government Policy Note

These Regulations are made by the Scottish Ministers in exercise of the powers conferred by section 14(1), (2) and (3) of the Non-Domestic Rates (Scotland) Act 2020 and all other powers enabling them to do so. The Regulations are subject to the negative procedure and come into force on 1 April 2022.

In accordance with section 14(5) of that Act, the Scottish Ministers have consulted such persons as they consider appropriate.

Purpose

These Regulations provide the following non-domestic rates relief from 1 April 2022:

- 100% relief on new properties for up to 12 months until after they are first occupied;
- 100% relief for 12 months on property improvements.

Policy Background

The independent Barclay Review of Non-Domestic Rates recommended (Recommendation 1) the creation of a Business Growth Accelerator – “to boost business growth, a 12 month delay should be introduced before rates are increased when an existing property is expanded or improved and also before rates apply to a new build property.”

The Scottish Government went further, and introduced on 1 April 2018:

- 100% relief on new properties for 12 months after they are first occupied;
- 100% relief for 12 months on property improvements.

The relief has, until now, been delivered relying on powers conferred by section 153 of the Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994

These Regulations are now made in exercise of the powers conferred by section 14(1), (2) and (3) of the Non-Domestic Rates (Scotland) Act 2020, which make provision specifically for Scottish Ministers to make regulations for relief from payment of non-domestic rates for newly built lands and heritages, and improved lands and heritages, as defined in section 2A(3) and (4) of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1975 respectively. Section 2A was inserted by section 3 of the Non-Domestic Rates (Scotland) Act 2020.

Policy Objectives

These Regulations, have effect from 1 April 2022, and make provision for the Business Growth Accelerator relief from payment of non-domestic rates for newly built lands and heritages, and improved lands and heritages.

The Regulations are structured as follows.

Part 2 provides for relief for newly built lands and heritages:

To receive the relief the entry in the valuation roll should have taken effect within the previous 12 months, or either of:

- more than 12 months previously, but the lands and heritages have been continuously unoccupied since that day,
- more than 12 months previously, but less than 12 months have elapsed since the property first became occupied.

Where, at the point entitlement to the relief is being considered, a new build has been entered in the valuation roll within the past 12 months, 100% relief will be available according to which of the following dates is reached sooner:

- 12 months after the property becomes occupied, or
- four years after the date on which the entry in the valuation roll took effect.

Where, at the point entitlement to the relief is being considered, the entry of a new build in the valuation roll has taken effect more than 12 months previously, 100% relief will be available until whichever falls sooner as between the date 12 months after the property becomes occupied, and the later of the following dates:

- 31 March 2025; or
- four years after the date that the entry in the valuation roll took effect.

The 31 March 2025 date provides for existing unoccupied new build properties that are already in receipt of 100% Business Growth Accelerator relief prior to 1 April 2021 – this date corresponding to the Scottish Budget 2021-22 commitment that unoccupied new builds would be able to claim the relief for up to three years – ensuring that they will continue to receive the relief for more than three years, up to 31 March 2025. For all other new builds, 100% relief will be available until the sooner of 12 months after the property was first occupied, or for four years after the date that the entry in the roll took effect. This ensures that either the full 12 months, or up to four years, will be enjoyed as appropriate regardless of the length of time between an entry in the valuation roll taking effect, and entitlement to business growth accelerator relief being considered. The 31 March 2025 date will not act as a cut-off, unless the four years of relief (or more) has by then already been enjoyed, as in the case of unoccupied new build properties already in receipt of business growth accelerator relief prior to 1 April 2021.

Regulations 3 to 6 set out the various circumstances in which newly built lands and heritages may be eligible for relief:

- where a new entry is made in the valuation roll that includes a building or part of a building, and the building or part of a building has not previously been shown in the valuation roll;
- where an existing entry in the valuation roll is altered to reflect a material change of circumstances, rather than a new entry made – although the altered entry must still show one or more buildings or parts of a building that has not previously been shown in the valuation roll, and there is an additional requirement that the property was unoccupied on the day before the alteration to the valuation roll took effect; and

- where a building, in relation to which a grant of relief is ongoing, is occupied in stages which result in separate valuation roll entries being made for parts of the building, the relief will continue to be available for each part.
- The relief is not available where the new entry in the valuation roll is the result of a property that was subject to council tax becoming subject to non-domestic rates; or where the building existed on lands and heritages that were exempt from being entered in the roll, but cease to be exempt, and are entered in the valuation roll as a result of a change of use.

A transitional provision preserves relief under regulation 4 of the Non-Domestic Rates (Relief for New and Improved Properties)(Scotland) Regulations 2019 (“the 2019 Regulations”), in relation to lands and heritages on which there is a building, but which were not added to the valuation roll at the time when the building was “new” in the sense of having been recently built. The focus here is on lands and heritages which are subsequently added to the roll as a result of a change in use. The transitional provision only applies where relief was payable in relation to such lands and heritages on 31 March 2020, and would otherwise have stopped being payable as a result of the amendment made to the 2019 Regulations by regulation 2(3) of the Non-Domestic Rates (Relief for New and Improved Properties) (Scotland) Amendment Regulations 2020. The amendment prevents business growth accelerator relief being enjoyed in relation to such properties.

Regulations 7 and 8 make provision for relief where a property that qualifies for new property relief is improved during the period for which relief under new property relief has been granted.

Part 3 for improvement of existing property

Properties where there has been a qualifying property improvement resulting in an increase in the rateable value of the property are eligible for 100% relief for 12 months.

Regulations 9 to 11 make provision for the improvement relief where an existing property has been subject to refurbishment, expansion or construction, within the previous 12 months, thereby causing a “relevant increase” in the rateable value of the lands and heritages. The installation of certain types of plant and machinery, including, in certain circumstances, solar panels and solar cells, can also cause a relevant increase. This is all subject to the condition that the increase is not in any way attributable to the combination, division or reorganisation of lands and heritages which were already shown in in the valuation roll, albeit in separate entries, on the day immediately before the day on which the alteration to the valuation roll takes effect. A property is “improved” where the changes made result in an alteration to its entry in the valuation roll to reflect an increase in rateable value as a result of a material change of circumstances.

“Relevant increase” is defined in section 2A(5) of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1975. Relief is only granted in relation to the increase in rateable value between the value immediately before the works leading to the increase began, and the value when the entry in the valuation roll is altered to reflect the improvement. No account is taken of any intermediate reduction in the rateable value (for example as a result of partial demolition of a building to be expanded).

Regulation 10 sets out the amount of rates payable for those lands and heritages which are also subject to transitional relief in terms of the Non-Domestic Rates (Transitional Relief) (Scotland) Regulations 2017, as amended, in addition to business growth accelerator relief .

Other Provisions

An application must be made to obtain the Business Growth Accelerator relief, except where an ongoing grant of the relief is in place, under the 2019 Regulations, on the day these Regulations come into force, or where an application made under the 2019 Regulations has yet to be determined at the time of coming into force.
